

Lt. Gov. John Carney Visits Tower Hill
Wilmington, Delaware
11/21/2008

Lt. Governor John Carney joined the members of the Tower Hill Jefferson Awards Youth Leadership on Monday afternoon to share his wealth of experience as a career public servant. In addition to awarding one of our peers each month for outstanding community service, our committee engages in other leadership training exercises. This month we are exploring the role of the press and how to write a press release. Lt. Governor Carney talked about the effect the press can have, both negatively and positively on us as a community. He explained that most times the press look for the negative side, to appeal to the readers and present an exciting story. He also encouraged every one of us to take a greater interest in reading the paper daily. He was a huge help to us as we prepare for our event in December. Several members of our committee will also be participating in a Jefferson Awards Leadership Conference at the University of Delaware this weekend. Student leaders from more than twenty other high schools in Delaware will join them.
